

Surrounded

Tonight is another night,
just like today was another day.
What more can be said
than night is here,
and it is different from last night.
I look around,
but nothing is found,
but night.

BIO: Duane Anderson currently lives in La Vista, NE. He has had poems published in Fine Lines, Cholla Needles, Tipton Poetry Journal, and several other publications. He is the author of 'On the Corner of Walk and Don't Walk,' 'The Blood Drives: One Pint Down,' and 'Conquer the Mountains,' and 'Family Portraits.'