

Compare
She is what I want to be
She is who I wish to see
I compare and compare
But she is just right there
I believe I am worth it
But she, she is perfect
Why do I think this way
What can I even say
Maybe she feels the same
And that's just the game
We compare and compare
We have a need to be rare
But it's okay just to be you
Live life in your truth

BIO: Sophie Price is a creative writer from Phoenix, Arizona and has a passion for Theatre, Film, and Writing. She is currently working towards a degree in Theatre and Film at Utah Tech University in Saint George, Utah. Sophie hopes to become an actor, director, and published author. For all her life, Sophie has always had a passion for writing and creating stories. She finds inspiration by poets and authors, such as Emily Dickenson, Edgar Allan Poe, and William Shakespeare. As a natural born storyteller, she is always finding inspiration and a creative edge in all of her works. She hopes you enjoy reading her work and had a fun time in her world!