

Originally from Utah County, Utah, Brough explores her world through various topics and art mediums. Her work Fowl Play features an eagle peering down at three mice dressed in work clothes in addition to a green bottle seen discarded amongst corn stalks in the foreground. The elements depicted create a narrative of the working class fighting against those against them, a call to awareness of the United States agriculture scene and the ongoing pressure farmers face from the government.